Rev. Peter Bargh has been appointed as Co-Archdeacon of Waikato, in the Anglican Diocese of Waikato and Taranaki.

This is alongside Joel Rowse of the Nawton parish. The role is roughly a day a week, for which the parish receives a grant to cover his time. Some of the work Peter already does for the diocese - including around discernment work – will be covered in this space. As such, while there will be additional responsibilities, it is also partly a recognition of what he has been offering to the diocese.

What does this mean? Practically, it means that he picks up some extra responsibilities while continuing to primarily serve as the Minister of Chartwell Cooperating Church. With this role, there will be times he will be away in another parish on a Sunday morning - which is probably the most visible effect of this appointment. This will only be two or three times a year, however.

Please do pray for Peter as he begins this new ministry as well as Joyce Marcon, the retiring archdeacon; Joel Rowse, the continuing co-archdeacon; and the ministry units of the Waikato archdeaconry which includes Te Kauwhata, Huntly, Ngāruawāhia, Raglan and the churches and chaplaincies within Hamilton.

THE PRAYER CORNER

God of hope, as Advent begins, awaken us to your presence among us.

In a world carrying weariness, conflict, and uncertainty, help us notice signs of light, courage, and new life. Teach us to wait with patience, to listen with open hearts, and to prepare the way through kindness, justice, and peace.

May our hope become active, strengthening those who struggle and welcoming every person.

Guide us toward Christ's way of generous love throughout this sacred season and beyond. Amen.

Security Cameras

Cameras have been installed around the church facility for the safety of people using the facility as well as to deter rubbish dumping, vandalism and theft from vehicles in our car park, or from the facility. If you need access to information from these cameras please make an official request to the office.

This week the camera footage was also able to assist the police in their official investigation of a serious crime in our neighbourhood.
