Eco Corner

A group of Chartwell Eco Church committee members attended the A Rocha (Eco Church NZ) “Coffee, Cake, and Conservation” workshop on 23rd March. The workshop was led by Krystel van Houte, the New Zealand director of A Rocha, and Rebecca Webb, the A Rocha Regional Eco Church Coordinator. In addition to fellowship and networking (and coffee & cake!), the morning featured a series of very informative short talks on topics including biodiversity conservation, greenhouse gas emissions calculators, waste management, community gardens, and kumara growing. Our own Jack Brinkman gave an excellent presentation about our very successful repair café. Tim Cox also gave a very short blurb about our church’s solar project, including estimated power bill savings ($200 per month during the summer!). It was a thoroughly enjoyable, informative, and inspiring morning! We look forward to more collaborations with our extended Eco Church whanau in the future.
