Reflecting on School Holidays.
Loving God, we hold in prayer all families travelling these school holidays. May their journeys be safe, their moments together joyful, and their spirits renewed. May each experience deepen connection, wonder, and care—for one another, for creation, and for all they encounter along the way.

Birthday wishes to Margaret Jones, Diet Jamieson, Rod McAlpine, Arya van den Berg, Murray White & Ian Bridge who have a birthday this week.

Congratulations to Linda & Robert Myburgh who have a wedding anniversary this week and an extra special Congratulations to Peter & Mary West who are celebrating their 65th Wedding Anniversary this week!
Ma te Atua koutou e Manaaki.
May God bless you all

Work is continuing on cutting out feathers and getting ready to create our church korowai. We have been thrilled by your response to this project. You will see it hung in the Worship Centre Foyer when complete.

Holiday Club was a great success. Both kids and leaders had a great time. Thankyou to everyone who provided food and/or resources!

Help Needed

For the September Messy Church we need the plastic lids off your milk bottles or similar size drink bottles. We also recycle the metal lids off glass drink bottles. Please bring these items into the office or to church on a Sunday.

Please see the noticeboard for information about a Scam Awareness event being hosted by Age Concern Waikato on August 7th

Emergency Toiletry Packs

For family of children admitted to the Children's Wards of Waikato Hospital in an emergency.

If you have travel toiletries, clean small bags, or would like to donate new toothbrushes etc they will be appreciated.

Items can be left at the church office or I'm happy to collect them.

Many thanks. Marilyn Dunn

God hasn't gone quiet in the chaos - neither should we.

Operation Coverup

Mission Without Borders have just picked up our knitting. Thank you to all the knitters for 13 blankets, 20 beanies, scarf, hat, mittens and scarf set. We also gave stationery, toiletries and small knitted dolls. A big thank you to Glenise, who sewed the strips up, blanket stitched them, and looked after them until today. Now we start for next year? Venue: St James, 82 Nixon St, Hamilton East

Cost: $10 appreciated

BYO journal and bible. Morning Tea provided.

Eco Corner

Recent headlines have raised concerns about microplastics in our bodies and the harm they may be doing. Scientists say it could be years before we have a full understanding of how these tiny plastic particles are affecting human health. But we do know they have been found from the depths of the Mariana Trench to the heights of Mount Everest. And we know that plastic is accumulating in our bodies, too.

What are microplastics?

Scientists generally define “microplastics” as pieces less than 5 millimeters long. Nanoplastics, which measure less than 1 micrometer, are the smallest of these and the most likely to get into our blood and tissues. Microplastics mostly come from larger plastics, which degrade with use or when they aren’t disposed of properly. More than one-third of plastic produced today is for packaging, including single-use items like food containers that largely end up as waste. A discarded plastic bag or bottle that makes its way to the ocean or a beach gets hit with ultraviolet light, heat and sand abrasion. From there, it breaks down into an enormous number of micro- and nano-plastics.

How do they get into our bodies?

These micro- and nanoplastics end up in our air, soil, water and food. Humans breathe in these particles and ingest them. Some research suggests plants directly take them up from the soil and incorporate them into their roots. The higher up the food chain an animal is, the greater the concentration of microplastics likely to be found inside them.

What can we do to avoid or minimize micro and nano plastics?

Limit use of single use plastics, choosing natural fibres over synthetic clothing, and using a microfibre –catching laundry bag. Avoid personal care products with microbeads and support products with eco-friendly packaging. Properly recycle plastics and support local clean up efforts. Advocate for policies that reduce plastic production and encourage alternatives that are biodegradable and sustainable.

Please remain at home if you have cold, covid or flu-like symptoms.

Many in our community are vulnerable and will appreciate it if you do not come to the church premises until you are symptom free and have tested negative. Thank you.
