WELCOME

Healing God, you saw the woman bowed down and spoke words of freedom.

We remember that your love embraces each one of us—disabled, weary, marginalised, homeless, mentally ill, or bent beneath life's burdens.

Lift us into your wholeness, where dignity is restored and hope renewed.

May we welcome others as you welcome us, sharing your compassion and justice with the world. Amen.

The War on Plastic

Negotiations over the first-ever global treaty on plastic pollution, launched with great hope in 2022, were supposed to set the world on a path to tackle the explosive growth in plastic waste.

Instead, after 10 days of what was scheduled to be the final round of talks, countries had not agreed on a single article in the larger treaty, including one that would seek to curb plastic production, an approach opposed by nations that produce plastic and its petro-chemical building blocks.

But the majority of nations at the talks have supported curbs on plastic production, saying the plastic waste problem needs to be addressed at the source.

They have pointed to eye-popping statistics: The OECD estimates that, without global action to curb plastic pollution, plastic production between 2020 and 2040 will grow by 70 percent to 736 million tons.

Overall, less than 10 percent of global plastic waste was estimated to have been recycled in 2020, the rest disposed of in landfills, incinerated, or released into the environment.
